Iodine binds to anti proliferative iodo-lipids (fat+iodine) to control cancer. This does not happen if we are iodine deficient, so we get cancer. Anti-perspirants block the lymphatic drainage under the armpits close to breast tissue. Cysts develop around the trapped toxins and cells begin to proliferate and this can lead to cancer if one is iodine deficient, especially when there is a deficiency of beneficial gut flora. When a biofilm develops around this microbial bundle of mischief it escapes the vigilance of the immune system. If a breast that contains such a biofilm is exposed to radiation (mammograms or X rays) then strands of DNA are damaged. The estrogen present in fat cells sets off cell proliferation to repair it. If iodine can't be there to control the cell dividing messengers then we get more of those "lumps".

Iodine also kills odour forming bacteria and helps to prevent cancer. It is absorbed through the skin and helps to top up our iodine reserves at the same time.
